Freedom from Reprisal

Retaliation for Engaging in Protected Activity

- A Federal agency may not retaliate against an employee or applicant because that individual exercises his or her rights under any of the Federal antidiscrimination or whistleblower protections laws listed above.
- If you believe that you are the victim of retaliation for engaging in protected activity, you must follow, as appropriate, the procedures described in the Antidiscrimination Laws and Whistleblower Protection Laws sections or, if applicable, the administrative or negotiated grievance procedures in order to pursue any legal remedy.

Applicable Regulations

■ 29 CFR §1614.101(b) states:

“No person shall be subjected to retaliation for opposing any practice made unlawful by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA), the Equal Pay Act (EPA), or the Rehabilitation Act (Rehab Act), or for participating in any stage of the administrative or judicial proceedings under those statutes.”

Elements of Reprisal Claim

■ First Element:

- ◆ Individual expressed opposition to discriminatory practice; or,
- ◆ Individual participated in the discrimination complaint process

■ Second Element:

- ◆ Agency (Management) aware of protected activity.
- ◆ The individual who the complainant alleges retaliated against them must have knowledge of their protected activity.

■ Third Element:

- ◆ Agency must have taken an adverse action after the complainant engaged in the protected activity
- ◆ Examples of Adverse Action: Denial of promotion, award, position; disciplinary action; negative evaluation or, harassment.

■ Fourth Element:

- ◆ Complainant must demonstrate a “Causal Connection” between the adverse action and the protected activity.

Protected Activity: Opposition to Discriminatory Practice

■ Opposition to a discriminatory practice .

- ◆ The anti-retaliation provisions make it unlawful to discriminate against an individual because s/he has opposed any practice made unlawful by Title VII, the ADEA, the EPA, or the Rehab Act.
- ◆ A complaint amounts to protected opposition only if the individual explicitly or implicitly communicates a belief that the practice constitutes unlawful employment discrimination.
- ◆ The opposition clause does not require the person be correct in their belief that the agency's employment practice they opposed actually violated Title VII, the ADEA, the EPA, and/or the Rehab Act.
- ◆ The opposition clause protects the individual provided that they had a good faith and reasonable belief that a violation of the EEO statutes had or was occurring.

Protected Activity: Participation in the EEO Process

■ Participating in the EEO process.

- ◆ Title VII, the ADEA, the EPA, and the Rehab Act make it unlawful to discriminate against any individual because s/he has filed a complaint, testified, assisted, or participated in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or litigation under any of the anti-discrimination statutes.
- ◆ While the opposition clause applies only to those who protest practices that they reasonably and in good faith believe are unlawful, the participation clause applies to all individuals who participate in the EEO complaints process.
- ◆ An agency can be found liable for retaliating against an individual for filing an EEO complaint regardless of the merits or reasonableness of the original complaint.

Disciplinary Actions

- Under the existing laws, each agency retains the right, where appropriate, to discipline a Federal employee who has engaged in discriminatory or retaliatory conduct, up to and including removal.
- If OSC has initiated an investigation under 5 U.S.C. 1214, however, according to 5 U.S.C. 1214(f), agencies must seek approval from the Special Counsel to discipline employees for, among other activities, engaging in prohibited retaliation.
- Nothing in the No FEAR Act alters existing laws or permits an agency to take unfounded disciplinary action against a Federal employee or to violate the procedural rights of a Federal employee who has been accused of discrimination.
